ment at the hospital for the insane last night. They were afterward treated to a choice lunch and pleasantly entertained at the home of Miss Wood.

No more beautiful weather could be asked than that with which this vicinity is now being favored. It is not only pleasant to the people in general but very satisfactory to the farmers and others whose employment requires them to be out of doors. The only satisfaction the shop and office employee gets is to envy the former class.

Geo. Davenport has sold the shed on the south side of his carriage repository, formerly used as an opera house, and the same is being torn down and removed. Its removal discloses many relics of former theatrical days. That the corner north of THE NEWS office will be considerably improved during the coming few months is generally conceded.

O. B. Hazen, who lives northwest of the city, has rented his finely improved farm and nursery to Mr. Thomas of Lincoln county for 14½ months. Mr. Hazen expects to leave in about two months, with his family, for Denver, Col., where he will spend the winter, returning here next spring, when he will probably engage in business. He hopes at some future time to move to Oregon and make that his home. He has been considering such a move for years.

E. A. Lundburg, a returned soldier boy is candidate on the republican ticket for superintendent of schools in Wayne county, while Miss White, the present incumbent is the candidate on the fusion ticket. The chivalrous voters of Wayne are up against a knotty proposition and probably feel themselves like unto the fellow who said, "How happy I would be with one, were t'other dear charmer away." Their devotion to the fair sex will make them averse to the defeat of Miss White while their patriotism and love of loyalty will prompt them to vote for Mr. Lundburg.

The stone for the foundation of the new Catholic church arrived last night and is being put on the ground in readiness for the masons to commence the work of construction, which will be within the next few days. The excavations are complete and the measurements for the foundation have been taken so that there is now no further cause for delay. The people without regard to religious beliefs heartily congratulate the parishioners of the church on their progress and growth. The new church will be an ornament to the town, and all such improvements should receive cordial recognition.

Yesterday was the ninth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stitt, and last evening a party of their neighbors in the Heights made them a social call. The fact that the visitors were attired in sheets and pillow cases did not tend to prove their identity but it increased the pleasure of the evening.

He desires to meet all old soldiers, whether members of the G. A. R. or not, also all members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., and will have something to say to them that will be of interest.

Geo. W. Schwenk, the ice man, is moving his double ice house from its location above the railroad bridge on the Northfork to his property east of the river, where he has his artificial ponds, thus getting the business consolidated and handy. He has been hauling the ice from the ponds and filling the building and naturally believes that he will save time and expense by moving the building.

A colored individual who has been hanging about the restaurant of Ted Haverfield, South Norfolk, for the past few days, repaid that gentleman's generosity by poisoning some articles of small value. Mr. Haverfield informed the officers of the theft and the gentleman was arrested. When the hour for trial came the complainant refused to prosecute and no action has yet been taken in the matter.

Mrs. Mathewson and Mrs. I. Powers gave an afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. Mary Mathewson, which was attended and enjoyed by about 50 ladies. The handsome residence was daintily decorated with roses and ferns and the guests with their brightest smiles, all conspiring to make a scene long to be remembered as a happy day. Elegant refreshments were served, and at the close of the afternoon every guest went away resolving that it had been one of the prettiest parties she had ever attended.

A party of 33 Indian boys and girls passed through the city this morning in charge of Mrs. J. M. Young. Nineteen were from the Winnebago agency and the others from the Omaha agency. They were on their way to Genoa, where they go to attend school. While they were waiting here to change cars their pictures were taken by Mr. Bancroft of New York, secretary of the National Sunday School association, and E. B. Young, general missionary. The Indians seemed as much pleased at the prospect of having their features perpetuated through the means of a photograph as the same number of white youngsters would be under similar circumstances.

The supreme court at Lincoln last Wednesday decided a case in favor of L. J. Abbott, former superintendent of the Lincoln asylum for the insane, which will have its effect on all positions of like character in the state and therefore increase the salary of Superintendent Keiper of the Norfolk institution. The salary bill as passed by the legislature of 1897 provided for a salary of $2,000 per year, but the bill signed by the governor provided $2,500 as salary of superintendents. Auditor Cornell yesterday decided not to ask for a rehearing of the Abbott case and his claim, together with that of G. F. Keiper, Robert Damerill of the Hastings asylum, which were for $1,000 each, and that of C. G. Sprague of the Beatrice institution for $300, were allowed and the warrants drawn.

The funeral over the remains of Mrs. P. A. Shurtz, held yesterday afternoon at the home on Philip avenue, was largely attended. The floral offerings were elaborate and numerous, many beautiful pieces being sent by wholesalers with whom Mr. Shurtz does business.

The service was beautiful yet simple, conducted by Rev. G. H. Main, pastor of the First M. E. church. The pall bearers were C. A. Blakely, A. P. O'Banion, P. E. Piller, Irvin Gerecke, B. W. Thomas and F. A. Fisse, all employees of the Fair store. A long procession of carriages accompanied the sorrowing family with their precious burden to the cemetery, where it was found that employees of the store had robbed the grave of its terrors with a profusion of blossoms, making it instead a beautiful bed of flowers. A delegation of traveling men represented wholesale houses at the funeral, besides there were a number of out of town people in attendance.

A serious accident happened to Claude Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pollock, about 6 o'clock last evening. Claude, who is seven years old, was playing with some companions on the street, when Walker's delivery wagon came along and the whole party made a rush to catch on to the back end. In some manner Claude's left foot became entangled in the wheel, breaking his leg in two places below the knee and tearing the flesh in a horrible manner. His cries were heard and the wagon immediately stopped, but it was too late to prevent the accident. When picked up by his grandfather, H. Semmler, the boy was unconscious, in which condition he was taken home. Drs. Macomber and Hagey were called, and it was at first thought that amputation would be necessary, but this morning the symptoms are a little more favorable and it is now believed that the leg can be saved. Climbing on the rear end of moving wagons is getting to be quite a favorite pastime with young boys in the city, and this accident again demonstrates that it is a very danerous kind of recreation.

Her toys a tale of sorrow.

And wash what'er she chooses,
For not a thing will go amiss
When Ivory Soap she uses.

The News has a card from Rev. J. J. Parker, dated at Chester, England, October 10, in which he says he has just recovered from a long and very trying siege of sickness, and that he was at that time able to start for home. He stated that he would sail on the steamer New England, Dominion line, from Liverpool to Boston on October 12, and by this time he must be in America. He says that his thoughts are daily with Norfolk people and that he is glad that the time has come when he can start for home.

The Oxnard hotel property has been purchased by D. S. Bullock of Harlan, Iowa, father of E. A. Bullock of this city. The deal was negotiated by E. A. Bullock with H. H. Baldrige of Omaha, trustee for the first lien holders, the consideration being $10,500 cash. The property cost to build and equip between $30,000 and $40,000, and it certainly has not decreased in value to less than $20,000, so that the new owner may safely figure that he has made at least $9,500 on his investment. This change of ownership will not effect the management of the hotel, Landlord Spear having a lease on the property for another three years.

The shoe store of W. A. Mildenhauser on East Norfolk avenue, was robbed of some valuable shoe stock sometime between Thursday afternoon and Saturday morning of last week. Mr. Mildenhauser received some new goods several days ago but having no time to unpack them did not do so until Thursday, when they were opened and arranged on the shelves. Saturday morning the proprietor's daughter was dusting the goods when she discovered that a number of the boxes which had been shelved Thursday were empty, the shoes having been removed and the boxes replaced in order, to prevent discovery until the robber or robbers could gain a start over all pursuit or inquiry. No trace has yet been discovered of the miscreants but an effort is being made to locate them and the goods. Mr. Mildenhauser is of the opinion that the thieves secured entrance at the front door, with the assistance of a key in their possession, as he knows of no other manner in which the store could be entered. The shoes taken were of children's and men's sizes.

Does the Baby Thrive

If not, something must be wrong with its food. If the mother's milk doesn't nourish it, she needs SCOTT'S EMULSION. It supplies the elements of fat required for the baby. If baby is not nourished by its artificial food, then it requires

Scott's Emulsion

Half a teaspoonful three or four times a day in its bottle will have the desired effect. It seems to have a magical effect upon babies and children. A fifty-cent bottle will prove the truth of our statements.
